First, it was Hillary redesigning our health care according to Marx;
Then, it was Janet Reno selecting our browser for us (even tho she didn't know beans about the subject)
Now, it's various politicians redesigning our autos to make them more "politically correct". Beans again!

I have used both browsers for five years without any difficulty in selecting one over the other....despite not being a computer "nerd" but rather a 75-year old layman, with just enough knowledge to know which hole to punch on a ballot: (R)

Our computer industry has brought us better and faster service at a less and less cost; unlike the states' track record of more and more taxes.

It is just a money grab not unlike the tobacco wars.....only this time our whole economy is at risk.
